Any knowledgeable user of Microsoft products is fully aware of the bundling and the games they have played for years to frustrate competition from competitors.

Congratulations to Judge Motz for taking a stand for open competition in the real spirit of what has made America great.

A deal in which the guilty party is the architect of the punishment is the worst sort of abuse imaginable, but it is typical of Microsoft's arrogance that they would think they could get by with it. I am so glad they have not - so far.
